Milwaukee—Promises to aid in all law enforcement work in Wisconsin, were extended Tuesday by speakers for various organizations represented at the opening of the Wisconsin Law Enforcement convention.

"The eighteenth amendment to the constitution is the attempt of people to grapple with one of the most perplexing problems affecting our social welfare," W. A. Canfield, president of Carroll College, Waukesha, said, in bringing the greetings of college men and women and giving assurance of their loyalty to law enforcement.

"The eighteenth amendment is just as vital as any other amendment and no citizen should be neglectful in observance of the law."

"If the amendment is a mistake, let the constitution be remanded in the proper manner, but so long as it is a law let no citizen or police officer regard it lightly. I am bold to say that never will the amendment be stricken from the constitution. Rather shall the arm of the law strike those who seek to avoid it."

ABIDE BY LAW
"The Catholic Total Abstinence Society of America, is in sympathy with law enforcement in every way," Rev. J. C. Hogan of Stevens Point, said in representing that organization.

"Obedience to established authority is one of the cardinal principles of the Catholic church," he said. "Therefore from its very beginning the Catholics have stoutly stood for law enforcement. If the Catholic citizen is to be true to his teachings he must stand for law enforcement without reservation."

Stephen Bolles, editor of Janesville Gazette, speaking for daily press, said in part:

NOT A PREACHER
"The newspaper is not a preacher. If it were, it would have a congregation so large as to demand a raise in salary and deserve it."

"The newspaper is a business institution. There is a misunderstanding about the functions of a newspaper. It is a great phonograph playing not its own but the records made by the world. Some newspapers play mostly jazz sung in falsetto; others only the ponderous compositions; still others give a concert attuned to many interests. That is the real newspaper."

"Many people want a newspaper to be better than the reader. It often is. But its function is not to save sinners; its biggest job is to make it easier to be decent."

"When the nation suddenly awoke to the fact that booze was destroying the economic efficiency of the human race, it was no job to get whiskey and its allies placed in the category of prohibited poisons."

"We have not achieved the perfect prohibition—probably never will. It takes seven years to cure one form of the itch. It may take longer than that to cure scabies spiritus frumenti—whiskey itch."

"The minute whiskey went to profligate prices, that minute the rich became leeches to a bootlegger."

"Remove the capitalization of crime and we have prohibition. It takes money to support liquor violations. We talk frequently and earnestly about Americanizing the alien—teaching him respect for law, making him a constitutional scholar. We should turn to the Americanization of the rich man who is trying to Europeanize the American nation."

"I have yet to read in any newspaper an advocacy of the return of the saloon. Practically every supporter of the light wine and beer program is qualified to belong to the Anti-Saloon League. Also, I note that if we have light wines and beers it will not bring back the saloon. I suppose they are to be vended in churches at Sunday school and in the public schools, automobile repair shops, millinery emporiums and department stores."

Five Appleton men will leave by automobile Wednesday morning to attend the sessions of that day. They are F. J. Harwood, who presides at a banquet Wednesday, the Rev. Ernest H. Wright, Dr. H. E. Peabody, George F. Werner, T. M. C. A. secretary, and G. E. Buchanan.

MANY OBSTACLES TO LOWER RAIL RATES

Washington—President Harding was represented at the White House Tuesday as merely hopeful that voluntary reduction in transportation rates would result from last Saturday night's White House dinner conference attended by 2 of the leading railroad executives of the country.

Obstacles in the way of obtaining voluntary action by the railroads in the way of rate reductions on the thorough going basis desired by the administration were described at the White House as somewhat formidable.

Days Of '49 Recalled In Sacramento

By Associated Press
Sacramento, Cal.—This city had reverted today to a big mining camp of the gold days of '49 whose romance is bound in the volumes of Bret Harte, Mark Twain and others, lives in the memory of a few white bearded pioneers, and is implanted for all time in American folklore.

The days of '49 celebration, opening Tuesday is perhaps the most spectacular of its kind, for practically every citizen in Sacramento has had a part in it. Every adult male has been growing a beard for several weeks and has prepared a costume of the period. The result has been a cast of thousands for the historical portrayal.

Every store front was revamped to fit historically into the 49 picture and every dainty miss who ordinarily wears 'em short, was attired in dainty dresses which reached to the ground.

RICH MAN'S SON SAYS HE KILLED BLACKMAILER

Walter Ward Admits Slaying
Ex-Marine When Father
Refuses Money

White Plains, N. Y.—The slaying of Clarence Peters, ex-marine last Tuesday by Walter S. Ward, son of George S. Ward, millionaire head of the Ward Baking company, followed the elder Ward's refusal to give his son $50,000 to pay to his alleged blackmailers, it was learned today.

Police action of the house of Ward—police commissioner of New Rochelle, vice president of the city, baking company, and father of two children—already had paid his blackmailers sums aggregating $30,000, according to Sheriff Werner. It was to the sheriff that Ward surrendered Monday and confessed the slaying, which he said he did in self defense, after Peters had fired at him on a lonely road near Kenosha Reservoir.

All information as to the nature of the slaying held the blackmailers had upon Ward was withheld by officials handling the case. Answering hypothetical questions put by newspaper men, however, Elwood Ravenold, Ward's lawyer, denied categorically that there was a "woman angle" or that the blackmail plot was built upon race track wire tapping or bootlegging.

"I am going to advocate prohibition legislation in England," she continued, "but I will support local option by direct vote laws."

Politicians Unable To Fathom Reasoning Of New Women Voters

Women Refuse to Line Up With Any Party, Preferring to Cast Their Votes for Individuals They Most Desire.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1922, by Post Pub. Co.
Washington—The eternal question mark has been placed opposite the woman voter by the national headquarters of all parties here. Nobody knows a bit more today—now that the primary elections have been held—about the way women will vote next autumn than was known two years ago except one thing and that's independence of judgement.

Figures are not available. The states do not keep track of votes by sexes. The political organizations are trying to check up the number of women who voted in each primary but there's no way to tell for instance how many Republican women voted for Alter in Pennsylvania as opposed to Pinchot for governor, or how many preferred Beveridge to New in Indiana. But every bit of information from those state of a general character and that means the statements of successful and unsuccessful candidates indicates that women took part far beyond the expectations of any of the political parties.

INDEPENDENT VOTERS
In other words, woman has the ballot and now intends to use it in primaries as well as elections. The effect on American political parties is already being estimated not however from any table of statistics but from a judgment of woman nature. Women may here and there have party preferences based upon tradition or environment, social or otherwise, but in the main the conclusion is being reached by those who have studied the question that women are an independent unit in the electorate. Organizations like the National League of Women Voters and the National Woman's Party have seen this tendency and remained intact, notwithstanding the general enfranchisement of women by constitutional amendment.

Both the Republican and Democrats have attempted to organize the women but with relatively little success. Women have identified themselves with the parties but they have shown little sign of becoming thick and thin party supporters. The way they have of the revolt in Pennsylvania and the way they disregarded the organization's wishes in Indiana is proof sufficient that women will swing their influence to one side or the other pending upon their own intuitive judgment of a candidate's ability or moral worth.

WANT DIRECT PRIMARY
Two conclusions may be drawn, however, even at this early stage of the game—the women are believers in the direct primary system and will fight tooth and nail a return generally to the convention system of electing candidates and they are identifying themselves with the progressive wing of each of the parties and will resist for themselves the right to swing from one branch of the party to the other, indeed from one party to another, depending upon which is the more progressive. Another significant circumstance which is the cause of apprehension to the regular party leaders is the developing tendency of the women voters to express their views in a party and if the candidate wins isn't sufficiently progressive and the opposite party picks a man who is progressive there is no hesitation to abandon one party for the other in the election itself. The swinging from one side to the other will revolutionize both political parties and the chances are the full effect of women's vote which was hard to discern in 1920 because of the enormous landslide of the Republicans will be noted and felt in the congressional elections this year and in the next presidential election.

SAYS MAN HE SLEW WAS BLACKMAILER

By Associated Press
White Plains, N. Y.—Search for two men known only as "Boss" and "Joe" began yesterday by S. Ward, of New Rochelle, N. Y., to have been present when he shot and killed Clarence Peters of Haverhill, Mass., near here the night of May 15, was continued by officials Tuesday. FIGHT EFFORT TO RECOGNIZE RUSS SOVIET

New Jersey Senator Bitterly
Attacks Borah's Recognition Resolution

PROPAGANDA IS CHARGED

Borah Says Communistic Principles are Less Widespread Than Year Ago

By Associated Press
Washington—Recognition by the United States of the Russian soviet regime would be tantamount to tearing down by one act all that Christianity has accomplished in 2,000 years' Senator Edge, Republican, New Jersey, declared in the senate today, in opposing the Russian recognition resolution recently offered by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho.

The New Jersey senator said he believed the American public favored a continuation of the government's isolation with respect to the soviet and added that "any how, it is no business of the senate to initiate such a program."

Senator Borah, replying in a brief address, said there had been such "constant and persistent propaganda" of misrepresentation in regard to Russia that he was not surprised that there was a general misunderstanding in the United States as to the present government. Nothing that 14 nations now were doing business in Russia and had diplomatic missions in that country, the Idaho senator asserted, that the "communistic principles in Russia were very limited at this time and by no means what they were a few years ago."

102 ARE MISSING FROM WRECKAGE OF SUNKEN STEAMER

Sixteen Passengers and Eighty-six Members of Crew of Egypt Lost

By Associated Press
Bret—The British Vice Consul here Tuesday announced that 102 of those who were on board the British Steamer Egypt, sunk off the Island of L'Island Saturday night, are missing, of whom 16 were passengers and 86 members of the crew. Twenty-eight passengers were saved, together with 204 members of the crew. Mrs. M. L. Sibley and Miss V. M. Boyer, American missionaries, are among those missing and presumably lost. Many of the dead brought in by the boats were wearing life belts; they had evidently died from exhaustion.

Accounts of the disaster given by survivors and the captains reports indicate that the loss of life would have been much smaller had not the cases of a few Indian seamen who were seen to be fighting for life belts and places in the boats.

The survivors' accounts indicate that everything possible was done by the officers and crews of the two vessels to prevent loss of life except in the cases of a few Indian seamen who lost their heads as they fought for life belts and places in the boats.

A nun, Sister Rhoda, whose name in private life, was Miss E. R. McNeill, refused to take a place offered her in a boat, saying: "Give it to another." She was last seen kneeling in prayer on the deck.

Belfast Government Seizes 300 Leaders Of Sinn Fein In Raids

Beginning To See Need For Women Doctors

By Associated Press
St. Louis—Sex limitations in the medical profession will vanish in a few years and the time is coming when every community will recognize the need of women physicians, according to Dr. Grace Kimball, president of the National Association of Women Physicians, one of a group of medical organizations meeting here in connection with the convention of the American Medical association.

Dr. Kimball said today "today it takes about twice as much ability and industry for a woman to gain recognition as for a man, but all that is changing, and in the future, I believe women will prefer a woman physician to a man." Given the same scientific background, the balance will be in favor of the woman physician.

R. D. MARSHALL, STATE JURIST DIES MONDAY

Former Supreme Court Justice,
Honored by Lawrence,
Dead at Madison

By Associated Press
Madison—Roulet D. Marshall, 75, a justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court from 1895 to 1918, died here Monday night after an illness of six weeks. His death followed a relapse after it was believed that he was recovering.

Former Justice Marshall for 23 years was a prominent member of the state tribunal, his written opinions being more voluminous than those of any other member of the court.

In 1913 Justice Marshall wrote the opinion in the Ekern-McGovern case which grew out of the attempt of Governor McGovern to remove Herman Ekern, insurance commissioner. This opinion is the most widely quoted among the Wisconsin decisions.

Born in Nashua, N. Y., on December 27, 1848, of colonial ancestors, Justice Marshall spent his early childhood in the east. With his parents he came to Wisconsin in 1854, settling in Sauk county.

EDUCATED AT LAWRENCE

There, Mr. Marshall remained until 1871, receiving his education at Delton, Baraboo, and Lawrenceville, Appleton. He commenced the study of law when 17 and was admitted to the bar when 24, when he took up the practice of law at Chippewa Falls.

From 1876 to 1882 he served as county judge of Chippewa county. He was elected circuit judge in 1888, serving until the time of his appointment to the supreme court in 1895 by Governor Upham. Justice Marshall all was re-elected three times, serving until 1918 when he was defeated for reelection by Justice Owen.

The distinguished judicial service of the justice was recognized by Lawrence college which conferred on him the honorary degree of doctor of law in 1914, and by the University of Wisconsin which conferred the same honorary degree in 1915.

Funeral services are to be held in Madison on Thursday.

AUTO SPEEDS INTO GROUP OF WORKMEN

By Associated Press
Milwaukee—"Slippery Jim" Cushman, who recently escaped from the Michigan state prison at Marquette, and who is looked upon by police as one of the most accomplished and daring burglars who has ever operated in the Middle West, and a most elusive criminal, is believed to be responsible for the maiming of three men and the endangering of the lives of a score of others at the entrance to the Johns Manville plant here early Tuesday.

An automobile, said by the police to have been stolen and in carrying the license plate of another machine, turned a corner sharply pursued by motor police two blocks behind and drove at full speed through a crowd of workmen who were waiting for the whistle to blow and the gates to open to they could start work.

Police are of the opinion that one of the two men in the car was Cushman. The car was abandoned and no trace of the men has been found.

WISCONSIN ANTI- TRUST LAW HELD CONSTITUTIONAL

Judge Quinlan Rules Attorney
General Has Duty to Prosecute

By Associated Press
Madison—The Wisconsin anti-trust law, enacted by the 1921 legislature at the request of Attorney General William J. Morgan, was held constitutional late Monday by Judge W. B. Quinlan, at Marquette. In overruling demurrers in an action commenced by the attorney general against alleged combination of tobacco companies in restraint of trade.

At the same time Judge Quinlan overruled the demurrer to the state's complaint against an organization of Wisconsin wholesale plumbing supply companies which involve substantially the same constitutional questions as those in the tobacco cases.

It was held that the anti-trust law had been regularly passed by the legislature, and that the law as enacted and signed by the governor, was not a violation of the constitutional provision guaranteeing against deprivation of property without due process of law, nor of the provision guaranteeing the right of contract.

DUTY TO PROSECUTE

Deciding on the right of Attorney General Morgan to bring the anti-trust action, questioned by the companies, Judge Quinlan held that under the statute he had an absolute duty to enforce which was imperative, and that it was not necessary to have a request or direction from superior authority.

These cases commenced by the Attorney General involved the right of the tobacco dealers and plumbing supply companies to combine for the exchange of trade information.

No trace has as yet been found of Orville Schultz, 16, also a high school student, who left in company with two girl students who were located in Lansing, Mich. Schultz disappeared May 13.

Ulster Government Seeks to Suppress All Sinn Fein Organizations

BIGGEST RAID IN MONTHS

Sinn Fein Society Ratifies
Agreement Made by Dail
Eireann Factions

By Associated Press
Belfast—Ulster will make no concessions to Sinn Fein on the bounteous question, Sir James Craig, the premier, declared in the parliament session here this afternoon.

"What we have we hold" declared the premier in answering an inquiry with reference to the boundary commission question.

Belfast—The greatest raid in the recent history of Ireland was carried out early Tuesday when swarms of police swept through Ulster and rounded up 300 Sinn Fein leaders, the majority of whom were Irish republican army officers. It was officially announced they will be interned.

The northern government's action was taken, it was stated, in an effort to suppress not only the Irish republican army and the Irish Republican Brotherhood, but also all other Sinn Fein organizations in the six counties.

The government's move followed swiftly upon Irish republican army raids and burning of buildings in the counties of Down and Antrim and the intensified hostilities in Belfast recently, culminating in the murder yesterday of W. J. Twaddell, member of the Ulster parliament.

Nearly every town and village in Ulster was visited, but the bulk of the prisoners was taken in the country districts, from farm houses. Comparatively few captures were made in Belfast, as most of the Irish republican army men living in the Sinn Fein districts of Belfast, anticipating action by the police as the result of the Twaddell assassination, had "gone on the run."

Early estimates of the number of prisoners taken ran as high as 1,500, but these proved to be greatly exaggerated and officials express belief that up to this point the total had not exceeded 300. In Belfast, particularly, the number of Irish republican army men caught fell far below the early estimate.

SINN FEINERS WOUNDED
Early Tuesday near Down Patrick, county Down, members of the Irish Republican army clashed with a searching party and a slight ensued. The Sinn Feiners were captured and one was mortally wounded and another slightly wounded. The prisoners were said to have possessed revolvers with plenty of ammunition.

ASSEMBLY ILLEGAL
London—At Tuesday's meeting of the parliament of northern Ireland, Sir James Craig, the premier, announced that the Irish republican army had been proclaimed an illegal assembly, says a Central News despatch from Belfast. The parliament later adjourned as a mark of respect to W. J. Twaddell, its murdered member.

RATIFY AGREEMENT

Dublin—The Ard Fheis, the national Sinn Fein organization, ratified at its meeting Tuesday the agreement reached last week by the factions in the dail eireann regarding elections and the composition of the government. After voting its approval the session adjourned.

Michael Collins, head of the provisional government, presiding at the Ard Fheis, said the value of the agreement reached by the dail last Saturday was that it secured the unity of the nation, enabling Ireland to end the disorder. "It, as has been said, 'this agreement imperils the Anglo-Irish treaty,'" said Collins, "we will have to face that in this manner. We have made an agreement which will bring stable conditions to the country, and if these stable conditions are not more valuable than any other agreement then we must face what these stable conditions will enable us to face."

In this production, Doug has achieved the ambition of his life—and registers with it what is by all odds the great, outstanding success of his career. His is a remarkable, clear-cut portrayal of the noble D'Artagnan, the wonderful hero of Dumas' amazing novel of Medieval France. This tremendous film is the happy culmination of a desire of years on Fairbanks' part to enact what is conceded to be the most striking and heroic figure in the entire history of literature.

Light Reading Is In Demand During Summer

"Give me something light to read on my vacation. I just don't want to move a muscle while I am away let alone to exercise my brain."

That is the common complaint to sellers of books and magazines at the vacation season commences. At a time when people have more leisure than during the rest of the year, it seems logical to expect that they would catch up on the many books which they have not had time to read during the year. But alas, it is not so for the balmier the weather, the lighter the reading.

Perhaps it should be a consoling fact that they read at all while they are vacationing but surely no rising author would be glad of the left handed compliment if his books were included in the list of those which cause no mental activity whatever.

The popular magazines receive a big boom during the summer months, according to information received at news stands. The popular editions of novels and the new fiction books are sold in large numbers while only occasionally a "high brow" sort of person wants to take along a book which he really might study during his leisure hours.

Vacation privileges were granted to public library patrons last year and probably will be granted again this year. A list of vacation books is prepared by the librarians which may be taken out in June and kept during the entire summer. These books naturally do not include the popular fiction numbers, but nevertheless provide some really worthwhile summer reading.

PERMITS MEN TO ENTER HIS BARN; FIRE IS RESULT

Frank Hoier, Retired Farmer at Hortonville, Suffers Loss of $3,000

The too trustful disposition of Frank Hoier, a farmer near Hortonville, may indirectly have been responsible for his barn burning down early Tuesday morning.

At midnight three young men in an automobile stopped at the Hoier farm and asked for a lantern. They said they wished to fix a tire. Mr. Hoier had no lantern and so the men used a flash light. They were given permission to drive into the barn to make the repairs. Mr. Hoier then retired after first asking the men to close the barn door when they were ready to go. At 1:30 Tuesday morning he was awakened by neighbors telling him his barn was in flames.

It was too late to save it. A number of farm machines were destroyed. There was but little insurance on the building. Mr. Hoier says it will cost $3,000 to replace the barn. Mr. Hoier does not know the names of the men nor the license number of their car.

ARMIES OR BUSINESS?

Hjalmar Branting of Sweden, joint winner of the Nobel peace prize for 1921, was awarded this high honor in recognition of his work for disarmament on a League of Nations commission whose sole accomplishment has been the issuing of a report stating that further disarmament is impossible at this time.
That reads rather hopelessly. The selection was evidently made for sincere and painstaking research rather than active effort of the type which brought Roosevelt the honor in 1906, and Wilson in 1918. Yet this research, and the reasons it discloses, may be the best possible basis for going about the problem. The stumbling-block, says this commission, is an international mood against disarmament. Fear of eastern European difficulties and German revival, and particularly distrust due to the recent commercial pact between Russia and Germany have been its principal grounds. The only hope, opine the league experts, lies in an extension of the Washington conference method, with the United States taking the lead. The league admits that though its own efforts would fail, our moral, commercial and financial influence is so great that we would stand an excellent chance of persuading the nations to reduce their armies.

When Secretary Hughes declined our first Geneva invitation he pointed out that the greatest causes of Europe's present economic troubles had been excluded from discussion. Consequently he believed the conference would descend to the political. Yet the nations which excluded the disarmament topic unquestionably did so in the belief that it would throw the meetings open to the hottest sort of political recrimination and wrangling. Even the naval limitation meetings, it will be remembered, were not entirely free from this. The Balfour-Sarraut spat is a case in point.

What must steal over Europe is the sane realization that it is time to knock off war and its trappings, and even just grievances, during the building period. Whether a direct effort by the United States at this time would actually obtain land arms reduction is doubtful. The more likely method is the gradual attrition of economic conference. It is a queer turn of events which has made a world's chief peace hope of the desire for gold and material prosperity, yet that is the undoubted situation.

The process of impressing economic truth upon Europe will be speeded if we throw our influence, the influence of the one cucumber-cool and reasoning outside business man in the lot, for the right side. We have been misers with prestige, top-heavy with it. It's time to put it to work. "Armies or business?" we can inquire pleasantly. "Take your pick."

WHO'S CORNERING GAS

During the month of March alone the bureau of mines reported that the number of operative gasoline refineries in the United States increased from 296 to 306; the daily average amount of oil run through the stills was 22,000 barrels greater than the preceding month; and stocks in storage increased enormously. Every one knows that when prices rise as they have recently more refineries are sure to enter the field. But the natural balancing result of this operation—the absorption of the new demand, the gradual excess of supply for the market and the consequent reaction in price—has not been allowed to take effect.

For some time there has been a strong suspicion that an inquiry into the forces causing a steady rise in gasoline prices was overdue. The senate has at last decided that the interests of the auto owners of the nation must be attended to and has ordered an investigation the need of which is well established by the bureau's report. While demand, indicated by domestic consumption of gasoline, has increased 7 per cent for the first quarter of 1922 over the first quarter of 1920 and 25 per cent over the corresponding quarter of 1920, the stored stocks on hand have gone up 20 per cent above the supply for April 1, 1921, and 36 per cent above that of April 1, 1920. This means that there are now 854,232,000 gallons tanked away in storage, and that most of the new supply, instead of going to meet the demand, is being thriftily tied up where it cannot affect prices.

While states argue about the right or wrong of imposing a gasoline tax of a cent a gallon the companies go ahead and jump the price several cents for their own profit. Gasoline is too much of a public necessity for such manipulation and should be speedily freed from it.

THE WORST ANTIDOTE

Twenty-five thousand New York citizens have taken out pistol-carrying permits in self-protection since January 1. This is a reflection upon the police department in that city. It is an indication that the public has let the reins of order slip out of its hands by voting for politicians instead of efficient public servants. It is the symptom of a serious government illness.

The worst feature is the fact that these 25,000 guns will not all get into hands that should have them. Part of the "protection" against crime will be an incentive to crime. Passions and hates will find outlet through this means of satisfaction. Weak characters will find the gun a lever, a tool for their pride or their greed. New York has adopted the most dangerous possible means of meeting crime. It has permitted a false economy, if not graft, to take over the department whose business is to make private gun toting unnecessary. Cities generally have been spending too little money upon organized and efficient police and detective service, and too little thought upon the desirability of ruling the gun out of the market.

THE CUSTOMER

"The bootlegger," says the New York Times, "is hunted, prosecuted, imprisoned, sometimes shot. His client, customer, accomplice, without whom he couldn't do business, reeks with respectability; may even exude the odor of sanctity. My brethren, these things ought not to be."

There will always be hands to take up the risk of an illicit traffic so long as there are criminals and men of small moral principle. The liquor business will never be completely killed by potting or locking up the bootlegger. It will die a natural death only when the respectable customer realizes that he strikes at every base of society when he hires men to break the law. He would not hire a burglar to steal for him and indulge his desire for wealth. That offense against the law which is everyone's protection would stand out like a sore thumb. The similar offense of playing bootlegger's accomplice in order to indulge a fancy for drink is coming to be recognized at its face value.

Bishop Manning—who has never been a prohibitionist and has no personal or moral objection to moderate drinking"—puts the case as it really is:

"Prohibition is now the law of our land. Those who disapprove this law have the right to do so and to work in lawful ways for its repeal. But no citizen has the right to evade or disobey this law, and no one of us can do this without grave harm to himself and to the life of his country."

Censorship From Within

The Motion Picture Theater Owners of America are to be commended for the decision to refuse to show any films in which Peggy Joyce is featured. That is the kind of censorship that counts. It shows that the theater operators are beginning to hold their business in high regard and do not intend to have it injured by exploitation of scandal-makers.

Such a policy will assure the theater owners of the approval and cooperation of that element in American life which looks upon the pandering to sensationalism and immorality as injurious to the general welfare.

Scandal has shaken the movie industry to its foundations. Its leaders have seen the light and in every quarter of the film world there is a sincere endeavor to put the industry on a sound moral basis. The public should encourage this policy and lend its support to the producers of high quality pictures.—MINNEAPOLIS JOURNAL.

A QUICK CURE FOR IVY POISONING

Speaking from personal experience I should say that having a cancerous appendix removed is a pleasant pastime as compared with having the seven year itch for three days, and I'd rather have a complication of these trifling afflictions than a mild attack of ivy dermatitis. The maddening thing about last summer's ivy poisoning is that the discovery of the quick cure for this catastrophe was announced only when the last temper destroying symptoms were disappearing.

Dr. Albert Strickler reports in the Journal of the American Medical Association that injections of minute doses of the toxin of poison ivy into the muscles of a person suffering with a severe attack of ivy dermatitis brings relief to the sufferer within a few hours and cure within two or three days. This is certainly a gratifying discovery, for under ordinary treatment such an attack generally lasts some weeks and there is a pronounced tendency toward relapse and few sufferers escape without some secondary infection from scratching or careless handling. In some cases of ivy poisoning the victims make a fairly prompt and complete recovery under ordinary treatment, and then develop some chronic skin trouble which persists for months and years.

It is Dr. Strickler's practice to question patients as to whether they have been exposed to poison ivy or poison sumac or both, and to use the toxin of one or both, according to the answer. If there is uncertainty, he uses both toxins, a mixture of two-thirds of ivy toxin and one-third of sumac toxin. From seven to 15 drops of the diluted toxin is the dose usually given, each 24 hours for two days, as a rule the sometimes the dose must be repeated daily for three or four days. Usually the injections are all that is needed. The itching is relieved within 24 hours after the first injection. Doesn't that sound fine? It does if you've had it. At the time of the report Strickler had treated 20 sufferers with this method, without any local applications or other treatment, and with a quick cure in every instance.

The toxin is prepared by the pharmacist, chemist or laboratory expert by extracting the fresh leaves of the poison ivy or of poison sumac with absolute alcohol, filtering and precipitating. The precipitate is dried and extracted in Soxhlet apparatus for 10 hours. The extract is carefully weighed and temperature. The toxin is carefully weighed and dissolved in absolute alcohol to which a certain amount of distilled water, which has just been sterilized is added, to make the toxin non irritating.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Girl Without a Hat

Is there any harm in going without a hat the year round, even through the winter? I have had this habit for several years. I enjoy perfect health, and I think my hair is nearly perfect, too, but, well, you know Old Mrs. Sumner—she constantly warns me I won't have any hair if I keep on. Just think what I save, never patronize the milliner. And, oh, boy, shouldn't this interest my future husband?—(E. P.)

Answer.—No harm. A hat is seldom really necessary for a woman, except now and then to protect her from intense sunlight or intense cold. Yes, I'm well acquainted with the lady; she is a near cousin to our noted niece, Mrs. Ben Toit. They're a mighty busy and ubiquitous pair.

What, Ho, Little Abscess!

May I comment on one of your published inquiries about abscessed teeth? If the tooth structure warrants retaining the tooth and one has a dentist who believes in saving teeth and is willing to devote the time to it—some dentists simply loathe working on root canals, I have discovered—and one is willing to pay the price for such service, then by all means keep the tooth. No substitute can ever quite replace the real one. I still have several teeth which some noted physicians said must come out—I also still have my health. My dentist worked more than 20 hours on one root canal, and saved the tooth. It cost money, but I think one tooth is worth any sum I can scrape up.—(Mrs. B. M. G.)

Answer.—My sentiments, madam. Teeth, eyes, ears and even noses are priceless.

Daily Editorial Digest

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

FEAR THAT DOOR IS OPENED TO UNLIMITED "SLUSH" FUNDS

With "Newberryism" so-called, already an issue in senatorial campaigns, Attorney General Daugherty has complicated the situation by an opinion which Republican editors frankly recognize as dangerous? His ruling that the corrupt practices act does not apply to the campaign expenditures of senatorial candidates is interpreted by most Democratic and numerous Republican papers as notice that "the lid is off," and as the NEW YORK TRIBUNE (Rep.) warns, if it is taken seriously the results will be "unfathomable."

The Attorney General "gets an awkward statute out of the way" in time to relieve his political conferees, as the CHATTANOOGA NEWS (Dem.) sees it, for by this ruling "the new elections are not worked out by being swept away" and the "old order restored," with Mr. Daugherty, the PHILADELPHIA RECORD (Ind. Dem.) says, dreaming of a reversion to the days of "unlimited campaign funds" with which to make the Senate "a Millionaire's Club with huge initiation fees payable from the dough for seats."

Certainly the new ruling makes possible, if it does not actually invite, the spending of money "without stint," as the SALT LAKE TRIBUNE (Dem.) thinks, and if it is applied the MINNESOTA STAR (Minneapolis, Ind.) predicts "a merry time this summer," for "the campaign barrel will be full to overflowing for the faithful," and "we may expect several campaigns which will make Newberry's in Michigan look like a piker's."

It is, however, obviously unfair to attack the Attorney General because of the ruling, the BALTIMORE SUN (Ind. Dem.) points out, since "it is merely an interpretation of a Supreme Court decision, and, in the opinion of the paper, he has 'probably done a public service by constructing the law as it now stands' for he has thus 'forced the issue.' That 'Newberryism' will be an issue 'cannot be gainsaid,' the OHIO STATE JOURNAL (Columbus, Rep.) declares, "it cannot be kept out, it is doubtful if it can be even minimized in any single state," and "doubtless before the campaign makes great progress Senators will be in the minds of the voters over the Newberry case than they had been willing to admit."

Indeed the "voice of the people has already been heard" on that issue, the WHEELING REGISTER (Dem.) thinks, and "its meaning was unmistakable in Indiana." The GRAND RAPIDS HERALD (Rep.) agrees that "cash-register politicians are not in vogue just now," but "the fact that Senator Beveridge made 'perfectly good' when he 'put his campaign squarely on a basis of ending political money armaments' and won 'It has ceased to be politically safe,' the HERALD continues, "to trademark candidacy for public office with dollar signs. A too-liberal campaign treasury has become a liability instead of an asset."

Since this is the popular attitude at the beginning of the campaign it may be recognized, the DETROIT NEWS (Ind.) holds, that "the people are insisting that no office in the land shall be purchased, and specifically that Newberryism be made utterly impossible in fact as it is already in morality." The NEW YORK TRIBUNE (Rep.) demands that "every candidate for office, high or low, must submit an account of the expenses incurred in his behalf during the campaign. It makes no difference whether the office sought is that of President, Senator or what not." If, as the paper says, "an amendment to the corrupt practices act is needed."

But while "Congress may pass a law to overcome the failure of the Federal corrupt practices act," such laws, in the opinion of the WILKES BARRE RECORD (Rep.) "are usually a farce" and "cannot be relied upon as the sole remedy because no law can prohibit ingenious evasion."

For whom they have not spent, or for whom they have not spent more, than the law allows for their nomination and election" the KNICKERBOCKER PRESS (Albany, Rep.) suspects "are probably very rare . . . so the formal filing of statements of receipts and expenditures under the law has been in many cases a mere legal fiction which deceived very few, but gave the distinguished statesmen a comfortable alibi."

Admittedly there is "a multitude of problems that must be faced in drafting a workable law to prevent unwarranted expenditures of large sums to the choice of the electorate," the SPRINGFIELD (Mass.) UNION (Rep.) says, but that does not detract from "the wisdom and propriety" of expressing that principle in law. While "it is impossible to lay down any rule as to what ought to be spent on a campaign, any more than to lay down a rule as to what a doctor's bill should be," the ADRIAN COURIER (Mich.) concludes that "a 'maximum' (and enforced), since 'that is necessary in order to prevent abuses,' but 'that maximum should not be put so low as to virtually prohibit a reasonably effective campaign.'"

The BUFFALO EXPRESS (Ind. Rep.) advances a scheme by which it believes the necessary money could be raised and still meet the demand for unquestioned integrity:

"The law," it says, "might well limit the personal expenses of a candidate, whether made directly or in the form of contributions, but it should fix the expenditure of a committee at such sum as may be reasonably used in an honest manner. . . . A graded expenditure law, requiring that all funds be collected and spent through organized committee and that contributions to such committees from individual sources be limited, would be enforceable and just. The candidate should be required to conform with the limit of individual contributions the same as any other person."

Cruelty To Animals

A law to curb trained animal acts and possibly prohibit them entirely, is being framed by the British parliament.

The best boozee cartoon ever printed showed a quart bottle of whiskey on a table, at which sat a young man with a bottle of whiskey in his hand. "Twenty years from now, I promise to pay John Briney for the lion's share of my health and potential earning power, also years of my life."

Prohibition may have as many holes as a sieve. But it has accomplished one thing: Fewer people are mortgaging their futures over to John Briney. Not much danger of many "getting the habit" at $12 a quart.

WEALTH

Do you find it hard to save? Solution is simple. You have noticed that, when you owe a bill, somehow you manage to pay it.

Why not consider yourself in debt to the individual you will be 20 years from now, and make regular payments into a savings account, gradually clearing the debt? Buying a home on the installment plan is a good way.

Jim Hill, the railroad king, got rich by borrowing. He used to say that he never had a dollar of his own, was always in debt. Maybe he didn't have the cash, but he was steadily accumulating wealth.

No Place to Live
Just what to do, I am at a loss to know. At any rate I'm writing this with the hope of finding a place to live without tying a rope to the kiddies' necks and casting them into the depth of the sea—they are such a great offense to the sea—there are such a lot of them here. In the first place a working woman can pay the unreasonable rents asked, and in the second place she cannot get a place to live if she could pay it. As long as her innocent babies and children are still staring the future in the face, Six foot under the ground is a better place it seems for our future men and women. I for one have evidently made a mistake by increasing the future, but as the rich get rich and the poor get children, where are we going to stay?

Now I want a place to live and all I can pay is $10 a month. I am strictly competent and work nearly all the time, get the best wages that Appleton people will pay. What about the less fortunate?
Mrs. Hulda Turk.

THE QUESTION BOX

(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical, and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. When brokers speak of "carry charges" what do they mean? J. E. B.

A. Carrying charges are the interest, paid by those buying stocks on margin, on the difference between market price at which the stock was bought, and the amount of margin deposited by the purchaser. Thus if 10 shares are purchased at $100 a share and $200 deposited as margin, the carrying charge would be the interest on $800.

Q. What is Sapsago cheese flavored with? M. S.

A. Sapsago is a kind of Swiss cheese flavored with mallot.

Q. Is it true that rivers wash their western banks to a greater extent than the eastern? D. T.

A. Rivers do not wash western banks more than eastern banks as a general rule. Other factors determine what land is washed away.

Q. Is any great portion of the $10,000,000 appropriation for the enforcement of the Volstead law offset by taxes on illegal liquor sales? O. M. A.

The Internal Revenue Bureau says that fines and special taxes imposed against liquor law violators have brought revenue to the Government two and one-half times as great as the $10,000,000 appropriation for the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

Q. When was the Cobalt mining country opened up? H. G. S.

A. Silver was discovered in the Cobalt region in 1903, but it was not until 1916 that the Cobalt "boom" reached its height.

Q. What percentage of farm crops are cereals? H. N. P.

A. During 1921 the value of cereals produced was $2,562,000,000 or 36.5 per cent of the crop total.

Q. Is there any way that color may be restored to an article which has been affected by acid? I. E. T.

A. Dip the article which is faded into a weak solution of baking soda and water. This is particularly effective for shades of yellow.

Q. How much bottled-in-bond whiskey is stored in warehouses in the United States? J. W.

A. At the present time about 33,000,000 gallons of such whiskey is stored in warehouses throughout the United States as compared with 50,000,000 gallons 18 months ago.

Q. Is there an artist by the name of Charles Chaplin. I do not refer to the movie actor, G. R. L.

A. Charles Chaplin, a painter and engraver of English parentage, was born June 8, 1825, at Les Andelys, Eure-France. He became a naturalized citizen of France and died in Paris in 1881. One of his best pictures "Sons of Eve" is in Luxembourg and another "Halle" is in the Metropolitan Museum, New York City.

JUST a suggestion may help you in selecting a suitable gift for the student graduate. Graduation with them is an important milestone in their lives. It marks the termination to a certain extent of study labors, very much involved, very much confused for years, capably completed at last and with every degree of credit to the student.

SOME reward must be given them. This invariably takes place in the well-known graduation gift. A little token or gift of esteem from mother, dad, or friend.

Graduation Gifts —Of Unusual Selection

Here are useful things that will bring joy and appreciation of your thoughtfulness. You will find a wide range of selection—quality you'll be proud of—prices that are astonishingly low. You can show esteem to graduating relative or friend no better than by a carefully selected gift.

CHEESE FACTORY AT HOLLANDTOWN BURNS TO GROUND

H. J. Fassbender's Factory Destroyed After Explosion—Loss is $20,000

Kaukauna—Fire believed to have started as a result of a boiler explosion about 10:50 Monday evening, totally destroyed the large cheese factory and ice house at Hollandtown, owned by H. J. Fassbender, brother of Hubert Fassbender, manager of the South Kaukauna Dairy Co. in this city. The loss is estimated at approximately $20,000 and is partly recovered by insurance.

The cheese factory was one of the most flourishing milk stations in this section. Farmers from a large district brought an average of 40,000 pounds of milk a day to the place. Without fire protection of any kind and without water facilities, neighboring farmers were powerless to do much more than prevent flying sparks from communicating with nearby dwelling houses. At one time the sparks had started a blaze on the roof of a stucco house about 200 yards away but it was quickly extinguished.

FARMERS ROUSED
The explosion roused several neighboring farmers who rushed to the scene only to find the blaze beyond control. Little or nothing was saved from the building beyond several dozen cans of milk which had been brought there that day.

Mr. Fassbender had recently started improvements upon the property. A concrete driveway was just completed that evening and masons had not yet removed their machinery.

The ice house adjoining the factory also burned to the ground, leaving a tower of ice about 35 feet high. Squads of men worked feverishly within dangerous limits of the burning building to remove barrels of oil and gasoline to a safe distance from the heat.

MAKING PROGRESS ON CITY BUILDING

Start on Construction of High School Delayed by New Problem

Kaukauna—It looks as though Kaukauna will be dressed up with a new municipal building by the end of the year. Progress on the new structure is rapid, the brick wall having reached the height of about four times on three sides. Some of the white stone is part of the building front also has been set up.

The water has fallen to midsummer level and the foundation of the building is practically on dry land. Brick and tile is coming daily.

The new proposed Kaukauna high school has not been started although it was thought a few weeks ago that the contract has been awarded to a Janesville firm and as soon as another question which has been brought up is settled, the work will begin.

Investigation is being conducted to determine whether the present school board has authority to make a contract of such nature in view of the fact that a new board has been elected and will take its office on July 1.

HOLD EXHIBIT

The exhibit showed the first stitches the girls are taught to make and each succeeding step in the process. A large number of articles of clothing were tastefully arranged for display, and the excellent quality of hand work and machine stitching, and the variety of the articles, testify to the splendid work being done by the girls of that department. One of the cooking classes served cocoa to the guests, from the home economics kitchen.

More than 200 tickets were sold by the band boys for the last concert of the season in the opera house Wednesday evening, May 17. A dance followed the concert.

KING GUSTAVE POPULAR RULER

Great Anxiety Throughout Sweden When Monarch Hurt in Accident

By Associated Press
Stockholm—The slight but painful injury sustained by King Gustave of Sweden in an automobile accident near Nice on the French Riviera has revealed once more the affection which the Swedes cherish for their monarch. The accident caused great anxiety throughout Sweden, even after it was sufficiently announced that the king's hurts were not serious, for the king is rather frail and nearly 64 years of age.

King Gustave has chosen Nice as his favorite haunt and playground when he seeks relaxation and recuperation from the cares of state and he is one of the most popular and welcome guest of the resort. His amusements there included playing bridge with friends and tennis with Mlle. Lenglen, the French champion, and Earl Balfour.

In spite of his age, King Gustave still plays a brilliant tennis game and is looked upon as one of the best amateur players of Sweden. A stiff game of tennis or bridge always puts him in good humor, and his witicism on these occasions are quoted throughout the Riviera.

The French newspapers have been publishing a story of a little incident that occurred at Nice to illustrate his wit. The King and Mlle. Lenglen as his tennis partner and she was playing on the right hand side of the court. The King frequently encoached on her territory in his zeal to return the ball, whereupon Mlle. Lenglen admonished him to "keep to the left, Your Majesty," and once gave him a gentle push.

At the end of the game the King is reported to have said to his partner: "You remind me of my Premier for you are always telling me to keep to the left."

Premier Branting of Sweden is head of the Socialist Party, which is parliamentary language is called "the left."

WOMAN'S PARTY DENIED USE OF NAVAL RADIO

By Associated Press
Washington—Acting Secretary of Navy Roosevelt Saturday announced he had declined application of the National Woman's Party for use of naval facilities in broadcasting addresses to be delivered Sunday at the dedication of the party's new headquarters here. The application was denied, Mr. Roosevelt said, on the ground that such use would contravene the naval order against employment of the naval radio for political purposes.

DRESS SUGGESTS SLENDERNESS

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

Every woman of generous proportions seems to experience a period when she would make tremendous sacrifices for slenderness; then just as surely, there will come a time when she realizes that health and happiness are more desirable than willowiness. Her pride, however, never permits her to settle into a state of heaviness, even if she must admit to a robustness that is quite genuine.

Slender, as they are often pictured, are not pleasing, and a self-respecting woman will not admit herself in to such a class.

Long lines are essential. A soft, graceful fabric with enough weight in itself not to be in the least flimsy is always desirable. Sleeves, as evidenced here, should never be conspicuously decorated.

A simple, unadorned neck line is, in many instances, to be preferred, for if the neck is not wrinkled with flesh, it usually is attractive. If it is wrinkled, then a collar line would make it seem crowded and overdone. So simplicity is in both instances the safest.

The dress illustrated is navy maroon fabric with navy and white. Black silk band emphasizes the neckline, and black leather flowers at the waistline give a definite newness that is entirely desirable.

Keep Milk Pure

CERTIFIED MILK HELPS A BABY TO HOLD HIS SPINE ERECT

By MRS. MAX WEST
Late of the United States Children's Bureau

Some wise person once remarked that the most important thing that goes into the baby's bottle is the good sense of the mother.

The milk may be of the purest when it leaves the dairy, but if it stands on a sunny doorstep for an hour or two, or waits in a hot kitchen while the mother goes to market, or is left in an open dish for flies to fall into, it will not be fit to give the baby.

Milk is an extremely delicate article, and is the favorite food of certain little cells that are capable of making great trouble for the baby, once they get inside him. They love milk of a mild temperature and when they find it, they grow and multiply with amazing rapidity.

On the other hand, they are greatly discouraged either by cold or heat. Therefore, the first law of the care of the milk should be "keep it very cool." It should be chilled before it leaves the dairy. Then it should be kept chilled until it is delivered at the house.

After that the mother must play her part. The milk should be taken in the moment it is delivered, and put at once on the ice. If there is no ice, it should be put in running water, or under folds of cheesecloth, the ends of which are in a pan of water which stands in an open window.

Every mother who has to do with out ice in summer should have an iceless refrigerator. There are readily made at home if someone is clever with a hammer and a saw, and they cost so little that certainly at least every family in which there is a baby should have one.

Properly made and used, this convenience will keep milk quite cold enough for safety, even in very hot weather, and will save a world of anxiety about sour or bad milk. Write to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., for directions for making.

Failing any of these, the milk should be boiled. This is always the counsel of prudence in the hottest weather. The baby is not likely to suffer from any possible bad effect of boiled milk for a few days, and will probably be much better off, than he will be if fed upon contaminated milk of any sort. In still other cases, it may be best to resort to dried milk, if the quality of the fresh supply available is dubious. Dried milk, under various trade names, may be had in drug stores.

OUR FIRST YEAR

Chapter 41 — Flapper Audacity
By a Bride

By A Bride
Chaos prevailed in the auditorium of the Little Playhouse as always at rehearsal.

The original barn, once a vast and elegant shelter for a man's carriages, had been improved by the addition of a stage. This wing was Mr. Tard's first contribution to the dramatic art of his city.

At the entrance of the auditorium Jeanne detained me.

"Entrancing—as always!" She exclaimed. "Better than the play!"

The chairs of the auditorium were piled high against the walls. All the activities incident to staging a drama were in progress.

Two sewing machines had been put in the best light and two Norse mads, belonging to the Viking cast, set them to whirling madly during every pause in the rehearsal. The costumes for all parts were designed and made by members of the company.

Below the stage stood a pressing board, placed horizontally on two chairs backs, the flutiron connected with a socket in the footlights. And upon the ironing board rested the director's mazonphon, also, the directors' elbow, while he listened to the actors on the stage. I suppose Judge Bailou never before had been in touch with a laundry utensil.

Scattered in heaps upon the floor and tossed over chair backs were half finished costumes and a quantity of uncut flannelette of all colors and scores of water color designs.

Suddenly Jeanne exclaimed: "Look at Bonny!" "I don't see how anybody could overlook her!" I replied. She's the most astonishing note in this amazing jumble!"

"She's dressed for a dance," whispered Jeanne. I murmured that from our point of view she hardly seemed to be dressed at all. That audacious flapper was seated at a kitchen table, a stage "prop" which the publicity people had requisitioned for a writhing deck.

"What's she up to?" queried Jack. "Addressing envelopes, announcing, ments of the production," I told him. "Looks absorbed, doesn't she?" Well, she isn't. Bonny Tearle is perfectly conscious this minute that you are talking about her, that George Bradshaw doesn't take his eyes off from her, that her evening cloak has slipped from her shoulders, and that the only bits of her covering on view above the kitchen table are those rhinestone suspenders!"

Fifty persons worked in the rehearsal or worked for it or watched it that night. One hundred pairs of eyes gazed straight at Bonny when she rose to greet our party. She came, half running, a mere child in figure and gesture. But—that awful dress! Amusement made Jeanne and I almost rude.

In any normal social era it would have taken a young matron of 30, one with a lot of pose, sophistication, and social prestige to get away with that dancing gown. And Bonny was only 18!

Her skirt was short and not very full. Her bodice was of silver cloth coming to an upward point in the middle of the front, barely as high as required; to each side of the point was attached a string of rhinestones laid on black velvet straps which went over her shoulder and fastened to her skirt at the belt. They could not have been attached to the waist in the back for there was none. The silver bodice sloped low under the arms and tapered to nothingness behind.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is EXHUME. It's pronounced—eks-hewm, with accent on the last syllable.

It means—to dig up, to remove a body from place of burial, to disinter. It comes from—Latin "ex," out of and "humus," ground.

'Companion word—exhumation. It's used like this—"When murder is suspected, it is customary to ex-hume the body of the person supposed to have been slain."

Household Hints

FOR WEDDING CAKE

Small white boxes to hold the wedding cake are frequently made more individual by the addition of the bride's monogram in gold letters. A sprig of orange blossoms and a white satin ribbon to tie it make this a thing of beauty as well as a joy to sleep on.

RUSSIAN HEADDRESS

A cap, made of lace and pearls, with the Russian idea predominating in the shape, is the headdress selected by many brides. It may be adjusted to suit the wearer better than any other type and is most decorative.

BRIDE'S BOUQUET

For the bride's bouquet the shower of blossoms and ribbons is still the favorite, but there is a tendency to use more colors than formerly.

FOR BRIDESMAID

Since the yellow is such a popular color for spring it is not surprising that many bridesmaids are having costumes of yellow crepe de chine and georgette crepe.

Sells Residence

Herman Lilje has sold his residence and 10-acre tract of land on Mackinac Island to a Chicago resident named Manker. The deal was closed Saturday by Lachs and Shepherd and immediate possession was given.

Works Out His Mathematics While Asleep

Norman, Okla.—(Food in most studies, John Greenfield, 15, is especially apt in mathematics, particularly when asleep.

"When an arithmetical, an algebraic or a geometrical problem baffles me," he says, "I read it over several times, get it firmly into my mind, and then go to sleep. When I wake in the morning, I know the answer."

"It's his subconscious mind," professors of the University of Oklahoma explain. "John's lucky."

CALIFORNIA ORANGE 1921 CROP IS SMALL

By Associated Press
Washington — Shipments from the 1921 California orange crop will be about 13,000,000 boxes, according to final estimates received Saturday by the department of agriculture. The loss due to the wind damage of last November was 2,250,000 boxes and to the freeze of January, 7,200,000 boxes. These losses were estimated at 42 per cent of the production.

Wedding Breakfasts

A wedding breakfast may be served as early as 10 o'clock in the morning and as late as 12:30, high noon. The breakfast is much like a luncheon in many respects, but there are a few definite differences.

The coffee is always served in regular coffee cups with the dessert and no soup is ever included in the menu. A fruit cocktail or hors d'oeuvre should begin the meal. Hot breads or rolls are served with a breakfast, while a formal luncheon is served without bread of any sort.

These menus may be changed to suit individual taste, but the courses should be carefully considered in full. The recipes will serve 12.

The strawberry cocktail is very simple. Berries are washed and sorted. Two perfect berries are saved for each glass.

Cut berries in small pieces and sprinkle lightly with powdered sugar. Pour over four tablespoons pineapple juice to a quart of berries. Let stand three or four hours in cold place. Put in grape juice glasses in a bed of ice, garnish with the whole berries and add a sprig of mint.

CRABMEAT TIMBALES

Two cups crabmeat, 1/2 cup stale bread crumbs from soft part of loaf, 3/4 cup double cream, 4 eggs, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, salt and pepper.

Put crabmeat through chopper. Force through a sieve. Add cream, salt and pepper. Mix well and add lemon juice.

Fill small molds two-thirds full. Put in large pan and surround with boiling water. Cover with buttered paper and bake in moderate oven half an hour.

Keep the water just below the boiling point. Remove from molds and serve very hot. Put tartare sauce in a heart of lettuce.

The broiled sweetbreads with mushroom sauce may be served on a tri-

Adventures of the Twins

Oliver Roberts Barlow

The White Goat

Nancy and Nick stumbled out of the cave into daylight. The red feather had knocked the Cloth of Dreams from their hands to the floor, where its two parts instantly joined into one, as it had been before Twelve Toes the Sorcerer cut it.

Then the red feather jumped into Nick's pocket. At the same time the magic paper slipped from the clutch of the dragon (Twelve Toes, it was, you know) and followed the red feather.

But before the paper disappeared into his pocket Nick saw some words written in purple ink, so he turned his back and peeped at it cautiously. It said: "When the dragon changes his form you and Nancy must watch your chance and grab the Green Shoes."

He put it into his pocket again and stepped out of the cave just in time to seek a great puff of black smoke. And as it disappeared there slowly took form a white goat with a black head and gold knobs on the ends of his horns.

But while the goat was sort of settling himself, you might say, the Green Shoes lay for an instant on the ground.

Quick as a wink the Twins grabbed them and slipped them on.

At last they had all their magic back with which they had started. The goat stamped around with rage, shaking his head dreadfully.

"What's wrong?" asked Nancy. "Does something hurt you?"

"Yes," answered the goat. "My common sense has a dent in it. I used to think I knew what else my head was buttered on, but I've decided that I don't know anything any more. I shouldn't have come back."

"Did you say bread or head?" asked Nancy.

"This is no place for a joke," answered the goat severely. But talking of bread made him think of the cake. There was a secret about it. (To Be Continued)

RURAL PATRONS
COMPLYING WITH POSTOFFICE LAW

Assistant Postmaster French Finds Farmers Eager to Cooperate

Herman J. French, assistant postmaster, last Saturday began the annual inspection of the rural routes leading from the Appleton postoffice. The first route to be inspected was route 6, covered by Carrier Arnold J. Fetting, and extending 29 miles.

The inspection revealed that many farmers now are complying with the government regulations following instructions given them since the last inspection. Farmers who at that time did not have the regulation white box have since erected them. Boxes with bad covers were replaced, names and numbers have been affixed, posts have been straightened and approaches repaired. There are still a few, however, who have not moved their mail boxes to the right side of the road. Postoffice officials will insist upon the strict observance of this rule, as the negligence may some day result in an automobile accident. The boxes must be placed to the right of the carrier who must keep to the right of the road.

Only two had pieces of road were found on the route. One is a section of a graded road in the town of Freedom, where an attempt evidently has been made to widen the road. The road bed is very soft and a heavy rain may not only delay the carrier but make it impossible for him to get through. A piece of road in Grand Chute just north of the Weyenberg district has been neglected. It was said. It is expected that attention will be given this road as soon as the farmers have most of their spring planting underway.

BOOKLET ON MILK

Milk is not a beverage. It is a food. A quart of milk supplies as much fuel to the body as two pounds of potatoes or eight eggs. But milk must be good or it is highly dangerous. That is why ten bottle-fed babies die to one baby fed by nature's method.

Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, Professor of Preventive Medicine and Hygiene at Harvard University, and formerly Director of the Hygienic Laboratory of the United States Public Health Service, has prepared a booklet on the subject of milk.

You need this for the protection of your own health and that of your family.

Our Washington Information Bureau will secure a free copy of this booklet for anyone who sends two cents in stamps for return postage. In filling out the coupon, print name and address or be sure to write plainly.

Pastor Will Reveal Findings in Study of Wisconsin Industrial Problem

Dr. H. F. Peabody is to deliver his noted address on "The Christian and the Industrial Problem," at the closing meeting of the season of the Men's club of the First Congregation at church. It will be a "ladies' night" banquet at 6:15 Thursday evening in the church dining room.

Dr. Peabody is a member of the state Congregational council which has made a study of the relation of employers and workers, and has found through his investigations an encouraging trend. He will reveal some of his interesting findings in his talk.

Holstein Boosters Step Into Movies Wednesday

Somebody let the cat out of the bag. Everybody knows now why all the good looking farmer maidens and the vain youths with their longings for the city are talking about the Holstein field day at the John Erickson farm, Wauwata, Wednesday. Incidentally they are doing a little extra "pumping" too, so they will look their best.

It's all in the magic word that has gone to every country home, "Movies." Everything that happens at the field day will be snapped by a camera man of the Wisconsin Motion Picture company, to be shown all over the United States. Outagamie co. is in for its share of the publicity that will result, because the local delegation will be indicated by its leaders.

This tri-county event is so big in scope that the Holstein association of the state and nation desired the pictures so as to show other farming communities what is being done in northern Wisconsin. It is a unique departure, as no rural gathering in this locality ever has gotten onto the silver screen.

Outagamie county's delegation will assemble at 9:30 Wednesday morning at the First National bank corner, Appleton, and the cars will go by way of state highway No. 18, leaving Dale at 10:45, where farmers of the western part of the county are to assemble. Badges will be distributed identifying the local breeders and boosters.

The complaining party asks that certain territory be detached from the school district of Kaukauna in order that rural children now attending the city schools might be privileged to go to school nearer

Science discovers how unseen "lumps" in the rubber cause a weakness in ordinary tires

PREMATURE blow-outs, stone bruises, sand boils, tread separation—what's back of all this tire trouble, anyway?

Since the first tire was made, the big problem has been to produce a rubber that could stand the grind and strain of the road. Minor improvements were made in rubber compounds. Yet the basic weakness was never understood.

The Thermoid Rubber Company set two practical tire-builders and two chemists at work on this problem. These experts learned that the weakness in ordinary tires is due to the uneven mixing of the pure rubber gum with the necessary strengthening materials. They found that in this mixing process millions of minute "lumps" are formed—every "lump" a weak spot in the tire.

Remarkable new compound

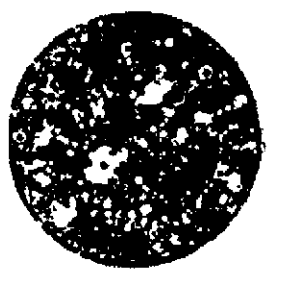

Studying this problem further, the Thermoid scientists perfected Crocide—a rubber compound that reduces "lumpy" formations to a minimum—that eliminates premature tire troubles. This even-texture rubber does not weaken with the stretching and straining that goes on inside a tire in use.

Crocide Compound is today used exclusively in the manufacture of Thermoid Tires. Either the Cord or Fabric type gives maximum mileage under all road and weather conditions.

We have compared the Thermoid Tire carefully, point by point, with other tires on the market today and we confidently believe that no other tire compares with it for service and durability.

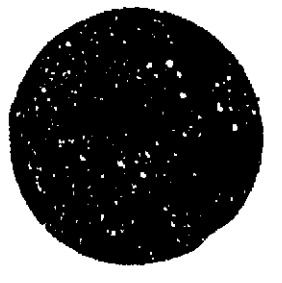

You are invited to call and see these new tires for yourself—also the famous Crocide Compound Tubes.

Farmers by the hundreds will invade Appleton Friday to witness the selling of 65 of the finest Holstein cows in Outagamie county. Y. M. C. A. HIKERS ENJOY WEEKEND AT HIGH CLIFF

One of the most enjoyable hikes of the season was taken by eight members of Employed Boys Brotherhood of the Y. M. C. A. for the weekend, with the destination as High Cliff. The hikers left Appleton late Saturday afternoon and reached a point about two miles east of Lake Park by night. Supper was prepared there and tents set up for the night. The hikers again at 4 o'clock, the youths and J. E. Dennison, boys' work secretary, arrived at High Cliff about 7 o'clock Sunday morning. Part of the morning was spent climbing the cliff and observing birds. Almost every species in this locality was found at this point. The group reached Appleton about 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

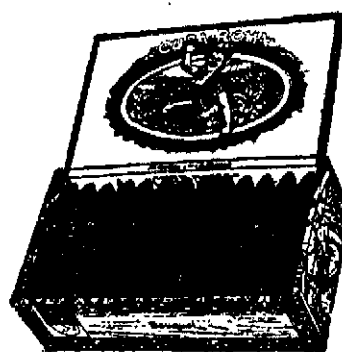

Taken For Outing
Hugh Brinkman, a member of the One Hundred Twenty-first Artillery band, who injured his foot during the holidays and has been at St. Elizabeth hospital ever since, was given an outing Sunday by J. F. Mr. Brinkman was injured while coupling freight cars at the junction of the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co. and it will be some time before he will be able to use his foot.

Few People Leave Stores Without Making Purchases

Merchants Here Say More Than Half of People Buy Before They Leave

More than half the people who enter Appleton retail stores make purchases according to the statements of representative business men and women. When Charles Macintosh, president of the associated advertising club of the world spoke in Appleton he made the statement that 55 percent of the people who enter a retail store, leave that store without making a purchase.

Many interesting things were brought out in the discussion with businessmen concerning the percentage of people who do not buy. No count has been taken in Appleton and until the time of Mr. Macintosh's speech, little thought had been given to lost sales in the terms of percentage. It was brought out that the speaker made no mention of the people who come into stores with no intention of buying and seeing something they want, buy it.

MORE THAN HALF BUY
"Mr. Macintosh's percentage seems too high for our store," said Miss Geenen of the Geenen's Dry Good Store. "We have never made a record of those who go away without buying but I feel certain that more than half of the people who come in make purchases."

"Perhaps in the ready wear, half of the people or more who come to look do not buy," said Miss Dinah Geenen. "But in every so many other departments, the number of people who do not buy is very small. I should say that more than 95 percent of the people who come for laundry, buy. I feel that Mr. Macintosh's percentage is too high."

Both the Misses Geenen mentioned the Saturday night trade as being the possible exception of their statements since Saturday night is the time when people come up town more to meet their friends than to make serious purchases. Most dealers are glad to have people come into the store at any time.

MIGHT BE RIGHT
"Every person who leaves a store without making a purchase is not a lost sale," said George Schmidt of Matt Schmidt and Son's clothing store. "Today, the average purchaser is looking for the lowest price and wants to look everywhere before buying. He may have had satisfaction at one place, for years but now he is suspicious of every merchant as a profiteer and must be shown. As a rule, this man does not know any standard of value in material or workmanship other than the cost of the article. On first thought I was inclined to say that Macintosh was high in his percentage, but actual count might

It removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. show him to be more nearly correct than we think."

"The percentage for our store is far too high," said A. J. Koch of the Continental Clothing company. "We figure that only one fourth of our visitors leave the store unsold. No, I do not think that being a men's store makes any difference since we do a great deal of our children's business with women. A large percentage of the farmers who come here bring their wives with them and the women are often the deciding factor in the sale. Macintosh's figures may be right in the biggest cities, but I would say that no store in Appleton fails to sell more than half of its people."

JUST LOOK AROUND
"If more than half of the people who came into this store went out unsold, it would soon be very apparent," said J. D. Steele, manager of the Pettibone Peabody company. "I do not like to dispute so good an authority as Macintosh and he must have some basis for his percentage. If a person with less knowledge of the game had made that statement I would have denied it flatly. A great many people who come into a store can not be classed as customers for they come with no intention of buying, but merely to look around or meet friends and we are glad to have them."

"It is hard to say off hand what percentage of people do not buy in our store," said Henry A. Gloude-man of Gloude-man-Gage company. "The percentage given by Macintosh was high for a city of this size although it probably is true in the bigger cities. I feel certain that many more than half the people who come into the various departments of our store to buy, go away with what they want."

PLANT IS ONE OF BEST IN COUNTRY

A. J. Hall Finds Appleton in Front Rank With Water Supply Facilities

Appleton has one of the finest waterworks plants of any city its size in the United States, according to A. J. Hall, city chemist and superintendent of the filtration plant, who has just returned from Philadelphia, where he attended the convention of the American Waterworks association.

Mr. Hall made particular effort to size up the Appleton plant with the convention standards to see whether this city lacked anything in the way of modern pumping or purification facilities. He found that Appleton is up to the minute in its filtration and bacteriological processes, and that the equipment itself is a credit to the municipality because of its completeness.

HOLMES ELECTED GOVERNOR OF NEW LIONS DISTRICT

Appleton Man is Honored at Conference in Decatur—Form New District

Dr. J. A. Holmes, pastor of First Methodist church, was elected first governor of the newly organized Wisconsin district of Lions clubs at the district convention in Decatur, Ill., late Monday afternoon. Dr. Holmes is president of the Appleton club which is represented by four delegates at the convention.

The district previous to this conference, included several middle west states but enough clubs have been formed in each state to warrant organization of new districts.

The Appleton club, which now has about 45 members, was organized only a few months ago and is just getting started on its work. Dr. Holmes is the club's first president.

There is a probability that Green Bay will be given the 1923 convention for the Wisconsin district.

Appleton is represented at the conference by L. Hugo Keller, William Commentz, H. A. Schlitz and Harry Oaks.

TRY 49 PERSONS IN OPEN COURT

Russians Use Opera House as Court in Trial of Political Plotters

By Associated Press
Samara, Russia—The State Political Police, successor to the "Cheka" is extremely active in Samara province in arresting supposed political plotters against the Soviet regime but it is evident here that the old system of secret trials and condemnations has passed.

The turn to open trials for all offenders showed itself here in a recent court scene where 49 persons, men, women and boys, were tried together as bandits. Accused of murders, highway robberies and burglaries, many having been caught in the act, these criminals a few months ago doubtless would have been executed with our further hearing by the "Cheka."

Interest in their trial was so great that the biggest theater in Samara was used as a court room. The prisoners, guarded by Red army soldiers, were penned in the orchestra pit. Each as his case was called, stood up on what had been the raised place for the orchestra leader and was questioned by the judges.

The chief justice, counsel for the defense and prosecution and the court clerks sat on the stage behind long tables covered with red cloth. All of the decorum of the old Russian court system was observed. The spectators occupying the auditorium of the theater, had to rise and remove their hats when the judges entered.

Points of law based upon the new Soviet code were argued just as in an American court and the time-honored custom of citing precedents obtained. As there was no jury (the three judges acting in place of one) the attorneys addressed most of their remarks to the audience.

The prisoners included about a dozen women and four boys under 15. They were a rough looking lot. The trial continued for more than a week. Nine of the ring leaders, including one boy of 16 who admitted he had murdered two persons, were sentenced to be shot immediately. The others including the women, were sentenced to serve prison terms of from two to five years in one of the old Czar prisons in Siberia.

This was one of the first occasions in the province when the Soviet courts adopted this method so much in vogue during the old regime.

SHOEMEN MAKE TENTATIVE PLAN FOR CONVENTION

Banquet is Eliminated Because of Possibility of Extremely Hot Weather

Tentative plans for the program of the annual convention of Wisconsin Shoe Retail Dealers association to be held in Appleton Aug. 8, 9 and 10 were made at a joint meeting of the executive committee of the association and local convention committee in the French room of the Sherman house Monday evening. The local committee reported the progress that had been made to the state officers who expressed themselves as well pleased. The social program is in charge of the local committee which has decided to dispense with the banquet and give a catered lunch at one of the parks because of the possibility of extremely hot weather.

Automobile rides about the city and to neighboring cities are being planned. A baseball game will be a feature. Other features are under consideration which will be announced later.

The executive committee outlined the business program which will be made public as soon as completed. The meeting was attended by all the members which consisted of A. B. Caspi, Harry Lucas, H. P. THE STAGE

Appleton Theatre

Alexander Dumas always gave good measure. He surpassed himself in good measure when he wrote "The Three Musketeers." Analysis of this best-loved story in the world's library of romantic fiction demonstrates why this is true. The prolific French author filled the book not only with suspense situations, wit and action, but also threw in, with a lavish hand, a most powerful group of characters—a group hard to match in any other novel. Each one of the characters was really worthy of a separate story.

To every reader of "The Three Musketeers" memory brings a panorama of distinctly visualized personalities, every one vital and breathing. Louis XIII of France; the King; his Queen, Anne of Austria; the Cardinal; the henchman, de Rochefort; Buckingham, the English courtier and statesman; Milady Winter, the deadly and fascinating adventuress; de Treville, blunt and masterful captain of the kings musketeers; the gentle Constance, sweetheart of the book's hero whose slogan was "One for all, all for one"—Athos, Porthos and Aramis. And the outstanding character who bewitches the imagination—D'Artagnan.

Douglas Fairbanks in "The Three Musketeers," is at the Appleton through the remainder of the week, starting tomorrow.

Amazing New Motor On Show Today

Recently Built Vibrationless Motor To Be Exhibited at The Stanton Tire Shop

Appleton people will have an opportunity to inspect the Automobile Engine that opens a new era in motoring. This is the Dyna-Motor, the vibrationless motor which automotive engineers have tried for years to build. Vibrationless motors have been built.

At the New York Automobile Show early in January, the New Dyna-Motor was the center of interest among cars of every class and price. Wherever shown since it has attracted the same special attention.

With wide open throttle and the car standing, this amazing motor runs as quietly as a dynamo on a concrete base. Driven at 40 miles an hour in second gear no vibration is noticeable. Power flows through it as smoothly as oil through a glass tube.

It is so astonishing to find this latest and greatest motor in the moderately priced new Velle that observers almost invariably overestimate the car's price by several hundred dollars.

In order that those living in the vicinity may see the new Dyna-Motor for themselves, O. R. Barker of the Milwaukee Auto Service Company, has brought a new Velle from Milwaukee to the Stanton Tire Shop, Morrison and Washington streets, for a 4-day exhibition from today until Friday inclusive. See it while it's here.

FANS SHOW GREAT INTEREST IN COUNTY LEAGUE

CLOSE GAMES LAST SUNDAY INDICATE HIGH CLASS BALL

Leaders Face Each Other Next Sunday and Changes are Imminent

Interest in the Outagamie County baseball league which played its second game last Sunday is growing every week. Large crowds were attracted at Dale, Black Creek and the Interlake park in Appleton and interest was intense. The quality of baseball was excellent as attested by the 11 inning game between Dale and Hortonville at Dale and the 14 inning fight between Black Creek and Freedom at Black Creek.

Hortonville, Freedom and Kimberly are in the lead with two games won each. Next Sunday there is bound to be a radical change in the standings inasmuch as the league leaders face each other. The entire county seems to be baseball wild this year. Crowds are expected to increase as the season progresses especially if the race is tight. Interest is great because the teams are made up almost entirely of home talent. There aren't any imported players and the home fans know every man on their squad. An effort now is being made to bolster up the teams which thus far have not shown great strength and it wouldn't be surprising to see the three losing teams come back strong next week. The league rules provide that each club shall put a creditable team in the field.

The purpose of the league is to furnish high class baseball in the county towns and it bids fair to accomplish its purpose.

Three Fighting Shades

The three fighting Shades. Only once before in the history of the American prize ring have three brothers come to the front with the real article.

California gets credit for producing both families.

The first to be recorded were the Atto, brothers of San Francisco—Cassius Abe and Monte.

Now we have the Valley Cal brothers—George, Billy and Dave Shade.

George, the oldest of the three boys, is 23, Billy is 21 and Dave is 19. George was the first to enter the ring. At 15 he met his first opponent, Kid Wilson, a lanky lightweight, at Crockett Cal.

Against the advice of his manager, Frank Tabor, and of Dad Shade, to take it easy, George tore into his man right after the handshake and knocked him out in record time.

George now wants a crack at Johnny Wilson, the cov and returning middleweight title holder.

Billy and Dave were not long in following George into the ring. Billy's first fight was about a year and a half after George made his debut. He too won by a knockout, dropping Bert Meyers featherweight in three rounds.

Billy, however, was gaining weight fast. He swiftly grew into a lightweight and then a welterweight, defeating the best boys in both classes in California. Shortly after he went to Australia. In the short space of a year he won every title in that country from welterweight to heavy weight.

Dave's fight was won by a knockout except one with Jimmy Clabby, which Shade won on a foul in the thirteenth round.

Dave the "baby" Shade started his prize career six months after Billy. Like his two brothers he started aus-tionously by scoring a win in his first bout, defeating a bantamweight, Johnny Garcia.

Growing into the lightweight division Dave won the coast title by defeating Frankie Farron. He then won the coast welterweight crown by earning the decision over Jimmie Duff.

Since then Dave has twice fought Jack Britton, the welterweight world champion, for his title. Both bouts ended in a draw though the first time Dave sent Britton to the mat for a count of nine. Dave, though lacks the experience necessary to cope with the wily veteran Britton. Another year may tell a different story.

RUTH'S HOME RUN HELPS YANKS WIN

New York Ties Count in Ninth and Then Beats Browns in Thirteenth

New York—Babe Ruth knocked out his first home run of the season and the Yankees defeated St. Louis on Monday in thirteen innings, 4 to 3. Ruth hit his current clout off Van Gilder in the eighth. RAIN HALTS GAME

Philadelphia—Sudden showers stopped the game between Philadelphia and Detroit on Monday in the eleventh inning with a score of 5 to 5. A home run in the ninth inning with two men on base by Pinch Hitter, Clark, a rookie from the Texas league, tied the score and sent the game into extra innings. Outshaw, Wilker and Heimann also made circuit clouts. Score: Detroit 100000010300—5114 Philadelphia 100000120000—580 Batteries: Pilleto, Daines and Bass; Her Hasty, Rommel and Perkins.

TRIBE BEATS RED SOX

Boston—Morton held Boston to six hits on Monday, Cleveland winning 7 to 1. Quinn's wildness in the second inning and Speaker's triple, Gardner's double and O'Neill's single in the third off Karr were mainly responsible for the visitors' runs. Speaker made a single double and triple and drew a pass. After the third inning Karr and Fullerton held Cleveland to two hits. LEARN TO SWIM IN ONE LESSON AT "Y"

Method of Instruction Makes Swimmers Out of Beginners in Record Time

Learning to swim in one lesson is a feat that is being accomplished at the Y. M. C. A. through a new teaching method in use by R. H. Starkey, instructor. Five out of eight beginners were able to swim half way across the pool after their first lesson, at one of last week's classes. This is expected to swell the attendance at the classes held regularly each week. The swimming periods for men are from 5 to 6 o'clock Tuesday and Thursday, and from 7 to 9 o'clock Monday and Thursday evenings. Private lessons will be given by Mr. Starkey on appointment. Men who already are able to swim are being taught to improve their stroke and speed, or taught the new swimming strokes. Others are being taught to dive or to become life savers. Any member of the Y. M. C. A. is privileged to enter the classes without paying any extra fee.

Denny Named Athletic Director At H. S. To Succeed A. K. Vincent

Neenah High School Coach Engaged to Succeed Local Man Who Has Resigned—Denny Has Made Creditable Record at Neenah.

A. C. Denny, for the last three years coach of Athletic teams and director of gymnasium work at Neenah high school, will direct athletics at the Appleton high school for the school year, 1922-1923. It was announced by Lee C. Rasey, principal of the high school, Tuesday. While Mr. Denny has not been actually signed by the Appleton Board of Education, his addition to the high school faculty in the position of athletic director for the coming year is assured, Mr. Rasey states, in that the committee on teacher's appointments has negotiated to this extent with Mr. Denny and will recommend his selection by the school board at its meeting June 5.

Mr. Denny established a creditable record as an athletic director while at Neenah. His teams have been among the strongest in the Fox river valley.

After graduating from LaCrosse Normal school in 1919, Coach Denny went to Neenah high school and in the first year as coach turned out a basketball squad that won the Oshkosh Normal School district tournament and scored second place in the subsequent state tournament at Madison. Again in 1921 Mr. Denny's Red and White outfit won a place in the Oshkosh tournament, a feat which was quite repeated at the 1922 district contest. In football, Mr. Denny has been somewhat handicapped by the fact that the game had never been very seriously entered into at Neenah high school. In the three years he has been at Neenah, however, Coach Denny has turned out some strong football eleven which have been playing Fond du Lac, Two Rivers, and Kaukauna. Similarly, track and field activities had never before been very strongly considered in the Neenah high school athletic curriculum, but with the coming of Mr. Denny track activities were raised to high standard and in the Stevens Point Normal school track and field meet for Wisconsin high schools, held at Stevens Point last Saturday, Coach Denny's entry took fourth place.

Mr. Denny is specializing in coaching basketball and will spend this summer under Coach Winter at the University of Illinois, who is classed with "Doc" Meanwell of the university of Wisconsin, as one of the best basketball leaders in the country.

In coming to Appleton, Mr. Denny takes the place of Coach A. K. Vincent who for the past three years has established an excellent record in Appleton high school athletics. Mr. Vincent has turned out in these three years a state championship basketball team, football teams that have been in running for the state championship for the last two years, and a track material that has rivalled the best Wisconsin high schools can produce. He has been a big factor in the establishment of amicable relations between Appleton and other high schools of the state, and especially in neighboring valley cities.

While Mr. Vincent has not yet decided where he will coach next year, he has under consideration several positions, one of which he will very likely accept shortly.

Mr. Denny will direct all high school athletics and will also take charge of the gymnasium work of the boys of the high school. Mr. Rasey announced.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Gregorius of Mackville, who motored to Chicago and spent a week there with friends and relatives returned home Monday evening.

FANS CLAMORING FOR REAL PENNANT CONTENDING TEAM

Brandts in Danger of Losing Support Unless They Show More Speed

It doesn't take long for a baseball team to get into the bad graces of the fans. Just let a team lose a couple of games and show no improvement and the fans—who love to support and boost a winner—will get out the old hammer and the fun begins. It sometimes happens that all this rapping is justified and often a lot of good results.

August Brandt's hired athletes are getting the grand razz this week. The several hundred bugs who journeyed to Kaukauna last Sunday and saw the Fords get trimmed in a ragged exhibition aren't any too well pleased with the squad and they are not backward about letting all and sundry know how they feel, either. It is quite apparent the Brandts will have to pepper up or a lot of fans here will go elsewhere for their Sunday afternoon amusement.

It is admitted that this is pretty early in the season and that no team can always win. The two games played thus far, however, have shown some glaring weaknesses in the Brandt team, both offensively and defensively. Unless they are remedied it is a good bet that the Fords will be down around the bottom of the heap most of the time. Poor base running and comparatively weak hitting aren't going to win many games.

In Schultz and Shott, Brandt has an excellent battery. Schultz wasn't going good Sunday and Kaukauna hit him hard but he still has a lot of stuff and compares very favorably with any pitcher in the league. Shott is a good backstop and a fairly good hitter.

Durain is the class of the outfield. He has a good wing, fields well and is a bear with the bat. In Goede, Brandt has what looks like a pretty good first baseman.

Far be it from the writer of these few lines to tell Magistrate Brandt how to run his ball club. But it appears to followers of the game that some improvement is possible in both the infield and outfield. It is hardly possible that the other clubs in the league have picked off all the good players around here. There must be some more if they are sought. A few changes in Brandt's club, with a manager who is really in charge to direct the players, and the team will be in the running with the vociferous backing of the fans to shove it along.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE ON FRIDAY, JUNE 2

Reports of examinations and announcement of credits will be made on June 2.

HEALTHY SWING IS HOME RUN RECIPE

Kenneth Williams Says It is Impossible to Give Hitting Formula

BY KEN WILLIAMS
St. Louis Home Run Hitter

When a fellow in any business suddenly achieves success, right away every one wants to know the formula.

For me to try to tell the sporting world how I hit home runs would be nothing more than a huge joke. It just can't be done.

Every batter has his own peculiar style. The style of a great many batters is in no way fitted for the making of home runs. It would be foolish to try to change the style of any player in an effort to make him a home-run hitter.

Batting is to a great extent a natural gift. True, it is often possible to correct certain faults, but hitting the ball hard is largely a gift. Nature must endow you with a free swing, the style that produces long drives.

HIT WHERE THEY AIN'T

"Hit 'em where they ain't," is the formula I understand a great hitter of years ago gave when interviewed on the subject of how to make base hits.

I might go that one better, and say that to hit home runs the surest is to hit the old pill over the fence or into the stands. And in order to turn that trick you must take a healthy swing.

Then it would seem that the most necessary thing for a batsman to do, who aspires to be a home-run hitter, is to take a healthy swing. You can take it from me that is one thing I do. I like nothing better than taking a healthy cut at the ball.

JUST WHALE AWAY
I don't mind striking out if I have my cuts, but I do hate to have the umpire call them. All of which proves the old theory that you can't make base hits with your bat on your shoulder.

Picking the proper ball to whale away at is most important. Get the pitcher in the hole, rather than let him get the edge on you. Mix up your style at the plate. Have confidence in your ability. Don't worry when the breaks are against you. Rather smile when they are with you. On the season it's a 50-50 proposition.

CAILLAUX PLANS TO "COME BACK" INTO POLITICS

Remarkable Frenchman May Again Be Important Government Figure

(Special to Post-Crescent)
Paris — "That man Caillaux" has written a book in which he says: "Out of the war there arose in France, in plutocracy made up of profiteers in metallurgy, in coal, in oil, in food, in ships."

Caillaux there is always Europe, a base these days the same policy, the policy of a plutocracy seated upon a lie. "Governing those selected to govern, the captains of industry, the profiteers, the wolves or the jackals who returned from the fields of battle with their money-pots wet with blood, are the masters of Europe."

"Europe is on the eve of belonging to an anarchic feudal class. The chiefs of the huge trusts are the dukes and counts."

CAILLAUX UNIQUE
There is no parallel to Joseph Caillaux in American public life. Many things have happened to him, any one of which would forever have killed his political chances in America. But in France he is the man with nine lives. Sooner or later he always comes back.

A master of finance, he has four times been minister of finance of his country and in 1911-12 was premier. In 1914 when he was finance minister, the newspaper "Figaro" attacked him savagely, printing some letters of his wife, Madame Caillaux, killed the editor and was acquitted.

During the war he was arrested and thrown into prison on a charge of having relations with the enemy. He was tried by the French senate in 1920 and found guilty of a minor charge.

For this he was sentenced to three years imprisonment, and loss of civil rights for ten years. As he had been in jail for more than two years awaiting trial, his prison sentence was dropped.

Caillaux's friends said the charges were false and that the reactionary and capitalistic crowd who control the French Parliament wanted to break him.

PLANNING COMEBACK
Caillaux is living in retirement in the south of France awaiting the next election. If a radical government comes into power, Caillaux is sure to have his civil rights restored and to be called back to public office.

In the meantime, in his book "Whither Goes France? Whither Goes Europe?" he has whipped his enemies with whips of scorpions. He paints a black picture of France and one just as dark of Europe as a whole. Of France he says its financial position is almost hopeless.

In Europe generally, with the exception of England, he sees a policy of madness. In order to strangle the trust builders and speculators, Caillaux proposes that a common European debt be created and a common European money issued.

He visualizes parliamentary assemblies as now, but continuing their job only to political rights. There would also be a new organization made up of employees, workmen and consumers which would control all economic matters.

SWEDEN RECOVERS FROM WAR ILLS

Strong Tendency Toward Revival in Many Lines of Industry

By Associated Press
Stockholm—Sweden's complete future recovery from a series of painful operations for post-war ills is forecast in the official economic report of the Swedish Foreign Office Commerce Department just made public. Its principal note of optimism is the Swedish exchange. After a year and a half of deflation and international liquidation still under way, the Swedish krona is virtually at par.

The government experts find that the greatest obstacles to economic recovery lie in the competition of countries with depreciated currency and in the fact that wages have not yet been sufficiently reduced. Countries with low exchange can dump goods in Sweden at prices against which Swedish manufacturers cannot compete. Likewise, in the foreign markets, Sweden is severely handicapped because of her high exchange rate.

The report states that there is a strong tendency toward revival in many lines of industry but that the natural process of building up is delayed by unsettled conditions in central and eastern Europe, the monetary troubles and the uncompleted process of wage adjustment. The Foreign Office finds that during the second half of 1921 and the first quarter of this year there was observed a slight increase in the activities of Sweden's basic industries accompanied by expansion in foreign trade, especially in timber, pulp and paper.

Although great interest has been shown in an early return to the gold standard, the Foreign Office reports that doubts have been expressed of the wisdom of adopting the American dollar as basis of parity, as suggested by some financial experts.

Bank savings and deposits show a marked drop during the first quarter of the year. This is attributed to consumption of capital during the period of depression. Never has the Stock Exchange witnessed such drop in values of stocks, the market having been affected, says the report, by the heavy losses suffered by industrial corporations and the nonactivity of others.

Sweden is still suffering from a buyers strike, which accompanied the sinking price level and most industries are working on a scale of one-third to two-thirds capacity. The signs of improvement in unemployment are weak. However the number of unemployed is going down. There were 158,700 jobless on January 31 and only 158,000 idle at the close of February and unemployment continues to decrease. Of these more than 65,000 were receiving government aid.

"Cave Man" To Test His Ardor On Stone Pile

Cave man loving isn't in style any more or else it doesn't take with some Appleton young ladies, August Recker, 27, of Kaukauna, learned to his sorrow. He is dulling his disapproval on the stone pile at the county workhouse for ten days, following conviction in municipal court before Judge A. M. Spencer Tuesday morning of assault and battery on a young lady residing in the South side.

August was ardently pursuing the girl of his choice. She loved another, however, and refused his attentions. She evaded his advances successfully until Sunday night, May 14, when she and the "other man" met August while strolling on Lake-st. Evidently the jealousy of the unwelcome suitor got the best of him, because, it is alleged, he seized the girl and handled her rather roughly.

The girl's companion took a hand in the disturbance and beat off the assault. She then swore out a warrant for his arrest.

August admitted in court that he loved the girl ardently admitted his guilt and offered to pay his fine. "There won't be any fine this time," said the judge. He ordered August sent to the workhouse. It is understood that his love began cooling immediately.
